

A thick, expressive red brushstroke serves as a background for the text, with white paint splatters and a white rounded rectangular frame overlaid on it.

every day may not be good but there is something good in every day